19% of fatally injured
drivers test positive for drugs.
And, over 50% of those
are positive for two or more drugs.
